

IMPORTANT: Enrollment in FMPH Courses for Spring 2023

Dear Current and Prospective Public Health Majors:

PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE READ THIS ENTIRE EMAIL!!!

We realize that this is a long email, but it is extremely important. It contains instructions that are critical to registering for Spring 2023 FMPH classes.

As you may know, Spring 2023 registration is just around the corner. The Spring 2023 Schedule of Classes will post on Friday, February 10th. Due to high demand for our courses, you will need to follow the instructions listed below.

It is VERY IMPORTANT that you check your VAC and UCSD email regularly. The program will be sending out time-sensitive updates. If you miss these updates, you may end up not getting seats in classes you need.

INSTRUCTIONS:

Please check out our Advising Calendar for up-to-date advising availability. Only drop-in advising and group advising is available in Weeks 6 and 7 so that the advisors are available to all public health students who have spring scheduling questions. If you are unable to come in during drop-in advising hours or group advising hours, please send any questions you have through the VAC. Queries received via phone or email will not receive a response.

NOTE REGARDING ALL FMPH COURSES:

If you are interested in enrolling in a FMPH course that is full during your first pass, you should waitlist at the very beginning of second pass (students can't waitlist for courses in first pass). The campus waitlist will be prioritized, and the program will keep an internal waitlist for any impacted FMPH courses. All remaining seats will be filled using the internal waitlist, so please make sure to waitlist at the very beginning of second registration and wait for our VAC message before switching your schedule. We will message all waitlisted students to let them know if we have seats for them or if we have placed them on our internal waitlist for the course within 2 weeks after second registration has started. All students who were authorized to enroll in a FMPH course MUST enroll in first registration for priority enrollment.

IN-PERSON VERSUS REMOTE FMPH INSTRUCTION:

All FMPH courses will be in-person for Spring 2023, we will not be offering any remote or asynchronous instruction options. Courses that offer an in-person option will indicate a campus classroom. All remote courses will list RCLAS indicating the course will be taught remotely.

FMPH 191 "Racism as a Public Health Crisis": (A00) Tuesday/Thursday 3:30-4:50pm with Dr. Harrell

- Prerequisites: FMPH 40 & Department Approval to Enroll. Open to SO, JR, SR standing. – Please submit your preauthorization request via the Preauthorization System for approval to enroll for spring quarter registration. The broad topic of this course is the declaration by multiple municipalities around the country formally declaring racism as a public health crisis. The course will address questions such as: What is structural racism? What is public health? Why are there disparities in health outcomes between races? What are the moral questions raised by the effects of racism on health? What are the moral obligations of medical health and public health professionals? The goal of this course is two-fold: to introduce the main issues and to practice argumentative writing about the moral issues raised by these declarations. NOTE: A minimum of one FMPH UDE is required for all Public Health majors.

FMPH 191 " Digital Consumer Health": (B00) Monday 10-12:50pm with Dr. Eikey

- Prerequisites: FMPH 40 & Department Approval to Enroll. Open to SO, JR, SR standing. – Please submit your preauthorization request via the Preauthorization System for approval to enroll for spring quarter registration. This course aims to empower students to build a lens to critically evaluate digital consumer technologies used in the context of health, such as self-tracking devices, telehealth, social media, and online communities, by exploring the contexts in which they are designed and used, including their social, cultural, and political underpinnings. While there is much potential for technologies to improve individuals' health and well-being as well as promote population health, technologies can also trigger or exacerbate harms. This course will help to balance positive views of digital health with critical analyses through the investigation of digital health's unintended consequences and the ways it can reinforce marginalization. Students will be encouraged to use systems-thinking and carefully consider context when assessing various digital tools. Thus, through this course, students will learn how to evaluate digital consumer tools that are and can be used by the public to promote health. This is important because consumer technologies are increasingly being used by Public Health professionals as interventions, for health promotion, to monitor and surveil health and disease, and more. Examples throughout the textbook will range across Public Health topics; however, activities will focus on one area, mental health, to build continuity across the course. This course is mostly in the US context but brings in ideas from other countries. NOTE: A minimum of one FMPH UDE is required for all Public Health majors.

FMPH 194 (Public Health Capstone II)

This class is only for students currently enrolled in FMPH 193. All enrolled FMPH 193 students will be cleared for the same day/time section and instructor for FMPH 194 during 2nd Registration. As a reminder, the final exam will be on Saturday and attendance is required for all students.

FINAL ITEMS:

As a friendly reminder, Dina will be on vacation beginning Tuesday, February 7th. Elisa has opened additional appointment slots for week 5 and will be offering extra drop-in advising and group advising hours in week 6. Thank you for supporting Dina taking some time with her family and being patient with Elisa while she does her best to answer everyone's questions. Dina will have 10-minute drop-in advising hours this evening for anyone who needs to talk to Dina before she takes leave. All students who enter the zoom waiting room prior to the end of the listed advising hours will be seen in the order entered.

Lastly, we recognize that our advising hours will be limited prior to Spring enrollment. However, we will also be available on the VAC to answer questions. Please contact us ASAP with any registration questions you may have to ensure that your questions are answered in time for first registration.
