

2020 Fall Honors Practicum Presentations!

The Bachelor of Science in Public Health invites you to attend the 2020 Fall Honors Practicum Presentations! Our Honors students, guided by Dr. Nancy Binkin, have been working on projects related to this year's biggest public health issue: the COVID-19 pandemic.

Demonstrating how the field of Public Health is a part of everyday life, these interdisciplinary honors projects explore questions such as mask wearing and social distancing on the UC San Diego campus, social media messaging regarding COVID-19, volunteer participation during the pandemic, and COVID-related refugee behavior and safety.

The presentations will take place over Zoom, and are spread between two days: Tuesday, 12/8 and Thursday, 12/10 at 12:30 to 1:50pm (see schedule and brief descriptions below).

Please join us at: <https://uhealth.zoom.us/j/4621449181>

Tuesday, 12/8/2020

- 12:30-12:55pm: Observational study of mask wearing behavior in San Diego County, presented by Eric Wang, Vince Duong, Daniella Goldberg, Aaron Hoffer
- 12:55-1:20pm: Environmental momentary sampling of masking and distancing practices at UCSD, presented by Manar Alkuzweny, Natalie Hofmann, Kevin Taggart, and Denisha Verma

Thursday, 12/10/2020

- 12:30 to 12:55pm: Identification of COVID-19 information needs at UCSD, video creation, and evaluation of views and comments on three UCSD social media platforms, presented by Sabina Burkic, Jamie Kwak, Blasco Sanchez-Neira, and Dharm Shah
- 12:55 to 1:20pm: Analysis of San Diego refugee population survey data on COVID-19 testing behaviors and community perceptions of safety, discrimination, and concerns regarding immigration status, presented by Ashkan Hassani, Holly Lung, Oriyan Shoshani, and Clara Voong
- 1:20 to 1:55pm: Effects of COVID-19 on San Diego Zoo and Safari Park Volunteer participation and social cohesion, presented by Jasmine Almeida, Callie Burns, Brianna Murillo, and Natalie Romero